Going to buy property?

Speed and efficiency in property transactions makes a world of financial difference to our clients. At Pincus Matz we understand this. Our property team comprising a Transfers and Bonds division, does its best to make sure that transactions run as smoothly as possible.

Our role is to manage a complex process which requires the co-operation of all stakeholders involved in a transaction, such as the municipality, estate agent, mortgage originator, buyer, seller, banks and other attorneys. We achieve this by using the latest systems and technology, and most importantly, by maintaining sound relationships. We keep in close contact with our clients and other stakeholders so that all parties involved are kept informed during the entire process.

Going to the Greatest Little Birthday Club in Town

Bistro Sixteen82 at Steenberg was the venue chosen to host our Birthday Club breakfast this month. We enjoy going places with our clients and colleagues, especially when we are able to share good food and good company in a relaxed environment. Visit our Facebook page for more photos.

Going to consult

In keeping with this year's theme of Going Places, Les Masterson is going to be practicing in the newly created position of Consultant at Pincus Matz. After more than 40 years as a partner at our firm, Les is going to be spending more time with family and friends in semi-retirement. He will still be available by appointment, to those clients wishing to see him and draw from his wealth of experience.

Going to District 6

Our March staff lunch was organised by Pat and Abby. In keeping with our 2018 theme of Going Places, they based the luncheon on Going to District Six, with food, decor attire and props to suit. Well done!

Going Dotty at the Drive-in Going Dotty at the Drive-in was the theme Ronnie and Laverne decided on for the Staff Lunch we held in our boardroom in April. What fun!

Going to retire

Pat Johnson who has headed up our Bonds department, is going to retire. Pat, who has been with Pincus Matz for 20 years will be missed by both clients and colleagues. Her efficiency and work ethic contributed greatly to the reputation that our Property department has earned over the years. We wish Pat a very happy retirement.

Going to the Spotlight!

Look out for Matina Angeliniadis who was one of five women selected for the Spotlight feature in Highbury Media's TFG Balanced Life magazine.

Gone to retire

We said farewell to Surada Cameron who has gone into retirement after working in the Pincus Matz Collections department for 17 years. Surada, a mom and a gran, enjoys family life. May her retirement years be wonderful as she enjoys her many hobbies, from walking to cooking and listening to music.

Happy Birthday!

Our very best wishes go to Yasmin Jadwat who celebrated her birthday on 14 March, to Alison Tooley who celebrated on 2 April and to Melanie Wilson who celebrated on 7 April. We wish you many happy returns.

I would also like to commend the bond attorneys, Pincus Matz Attorneys. They were very professional, friendly, convenient location and had no problem clarifying any questions we had. Tammy Abrahams

It is these little things that make you unforgettable. Elton Leite

Thank you so much for a most enjoyable breakfast. The venue was lovely, the food was really delicious and the company was great! It was very kind of you to invite me and I did appreciate it. Margie Ramsbottom

Thank you everyone for your efficient and speedy handling of this sale. Having gone through similar sales here in France I can tell you that the French could learn a thing or two from how its done in SA. It has been a pleasure dealing with you all. Nadine and Graeme Riddick
