

Looking Back

As we contemplate the Pincus Matz 90th celebration, we reflect on the dedication of our founders, of partners and staff. We acknowledge that the firm has been built, not only on the sound legal advice of our professionals, but also on solid relationships and our service to the community. We are reminded of the Sankofa - the African word that translates as:

It is not taboo to fetch what is at risk of being left behind ...

Sankofa symbolises the quest for knowledge with the implication that the quest is based on critical examination, and intelligent and patient investigation. Just as the Akans, we accept that there must be movement and new learning as time passes.

As this forward march proceeds, the knowledge of the past must never be forgotten.

Our prime purpose in this life is to help others. And if you can't help them, at least don't hurt them. Dalai Lama

The Robbie Robertson Memorial Bowls Day

Pincus Matz sponsored a team for the Robbie Robertson Memorial Bowls Day again this year - a cause we have supported for at least ten years. The event is held annually at the Constantia Bowling Club, and raises funds for Robertson House, a home for persons with quadriplegia. Spinal cord injuries are caused mainly by diving accidents, road and motor vehicle accidents, rugby and violence related injuries.

Nine-Ty High-Tea

In celebration of Pincus Matz 90th and clients who celebrated birthdays in March and April, The Greatest Little Birthday Club in Town hosted a delightful High Tea at the Belmond Mount Nelson Hotel in Gardens recently. Judging by the kind thank you messages we have received, the occasion was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone. You will find more photos on our Facebook page.

Meanwhile, back at the office ...

Melanie Wilson received some flowers from Karen Napoleon, when she celebrated a special birthday recently. Melanie is the friendly face and voice at our reception desk and assists with administration. She has been with Pincus Matz for 19 years.

How cute! As we reflect on how the firm has developed over 90 years, our staff has been prompted to display photos of themselves as babies and toddlers. It has been fun trying to figure out which photo belongs to which Pincus Matz family member.

There are three constants in life... change, choice and principles.

Happy Birthday

Our very best wishes go to Laverne Nolan, Les Masterson, Rachenda Smith and Vanessa Joshua. May the years ahead be gracious and your lives filled with joy.

A big THANK YOU for the lovely High Tea at the Mt Nelson. It was so elegant and very enjoyable. Margie Ramsbottom

Please pass on my warmest congratulations to the partners and staff and my best wishes for the years to come. Desmond Loch-Davis

Thank you for sharing Pincus Matz 90th Birthday Celebration - and others - at the majestic Mount Nelson. It was a great privilege being invited to the Birthday Club and I so enjoyed the chats with all of you not to mention the very special array of goodies. Congratulations to all at Pincus Matz this very special year. Marian Arenhold.

Thank you so much for the fabulous birthday club spoil at the Mount Nelson! It has been a bucket list item of mine for some time and it was such a treat to tick it off with all of you. I really appreciate your friendship. Kirsten Smit
